PERSONNEL

We still have 2 fulltime employees out on FMLA. The 2 EMT's that were sent to medic school have finished getting their patient contacts and will take their nationals and exit interviews in the next month. Staffing continues to be a challenge due to lack of Medics being available to staff Snoqualmie pass shifts.

APPARATUS

Medic units have been working well after some initial problems with M9. I still have not heard back from KVFR for mechanic services, I have made contact with AMI in Ellensburg for routine maintenance. Medic 6 will be going to Braun NW for some repair work after the KVH parking lot accident. Medic 10 chassis has been identified and being built at the Ford plant, unsure on the timeline for completion.

KVH closed the Covid-19 Testing Locations in Ellensburg and at FME on March 31. Our testing volumes had dropped from 200 per day to about 10-15 per day prior to the closure. We are still offering Covid-19 testing at the hospital and clinics, although we are seeing very few.

47 Degrees North

The Kittitas County Unincorporated Area Council (KCUAC) has sent a letter to upper county service agencies encouraging them to write the Cle Elum City Council and request to be included in preapplication conferences anticipated between the City of Cle Elum and 47 Degrees North. This type of participation is allowed by City Code.

Respectfully submitted by Rhonda Holden, MSN

Dear _____

My Name is Larry Stauffer and I represent Kittitas County Unincorporated Area Council (KCUAC), a WA Nonprofit Corporation organized to represent the citizens of upper Kittitas County in the matter of Sun Communities 47 Degrees North proposed development. I am writing to inform you of important upcoming opportunities for upper county service agencies to represent their interests as related to the project.

The massive 47 Degree North development, if approved as proposed, will have a huge impact on upper county service agencies, affecting both fiscal conditions and ability to provide acceptable levels of service. Independent fiscal studies commissioned by the City of Cle Elum included in the Environmental Impact Statement show that across affected upper county service agencies tax revenues will decrease and service costs will increase as compared to the current plan for traditional neighborhoods on the property. Without substantial new developer mitigation, or a change in the scope and composition of the proposal, it is clear to us that taxes must significantly increase or levels of service must significantly decrease (or both). It is our belief that new development in upper county should be a net positive for our region making our fiscal and service levels better. But at a bare minimum it shouldn't make them worse.

Where things stand now: In July 2021, Sun Communities submitted an application to the City of Cle Elum for a Proposed Major Modification to the 20-year-old Bullfrog UGA Master Site Plan and Development Agreement. In late November 2021, Sun Communities withdrew this development application following the overwhelming negative response by both the public and certain affected agencies. When withdrawing its application Sun Communities announced its intent to reset and review its development plans with the expectation of submitting a new revised application later in 2022. Fortunately for upper county service agencies, this reset can work in both directions, allowing agencies to get "a seat at the table" and strengthen their position to represent agency and citizen interests during the land use process.

Based on information available from public meetings, we believe that the filing of a new application by Sun Communities is imminent. Furthermore, in terms of its size and impacts on upper county, it looks like the new application will closely resemble the previous application, including a 673 privately owned manufactured housing park and a 661-unit RV park.

Several parts of Cle Elum's Municipal Code allow the city to include affected agencies directly in the process. These are:

CMC 1430.030 (see below) requires the city to give affected public agencies a seat-at-the-table at a pre-application conference associated with a type 4 permit of the nature contemplated by Sun Communities.

CMC 17.140.020.B allows the city to include "The county, special service districts, school districts" as legal parties to the the development agreement.

CMC 17.140.020.D allows the City to require concurrent review and consideration of the Development Agreement and application.

None of these code provisions were applied by the city during the first (now withdrawn) application, but with a reset, the city can apply them to the new application if they choose to do so. We strongly believe that the city should implement these code provisions so upper county service providers have the strongest possible platform to represent agency and citizen interests.

The City of Cle Elum has previously considered you an affected public agency by including you in the "Consent of Transfer" process associated with the recent land sale and transfer of rights between Suncadia and Sun

DRAFTDRAFT*DRAFT

Communities. I have written this letter to your agency to ensure that you are aware of how you can be included in the process.

Our request is that you take action to inform the City of Cle Elum of your desire to participate in the conference when it happens, and to be included as a legal party to the Development Agreement. Agency oversight of this potential development is critical for the well-being of the upper county.

I have included a sample note to the Mayor that I invite you to modify as you see fit.

Thank you for your attention to this important matter.

5 Surprising Facts About High Blood Pressure (HBP)

Learn more at cdc.gov/bloodpressure

High blood pressure (HBP) affects nearly half of U.S. adults, yet many who have the condition don't know they have it. Uncontrolled HBP raises the risk for heart disease and stroke, which are leading causes of death in the U.S. Fortunately, HBP is treatable and preventable. To lower your risk, get your blood pressure checked regularly and take action to control your blood pressure if it is high.

1. HBP may be linked to dementia. Evidence suggests having uncontrolled HBP in midlife (ages 44 to 66) creates a higher risk for dementia later in life.

2. Nearly 1 in 4 adults aged 20 to 44 have HBP. Increased risk for stroke in this age group is likely due to rising rates of obesity, HBP, and type 2 diabetes.

3. HBP usually doesn't have symptoms. HBP is sometimes called "the silent killer." Because many people feel fine, they don't think they need to get their blood pressure checked.

4. HBP poses unique risks to pregnant women. Pregnant women with HBP are more likely to have complications than those with normal blood pressure. HBP during pregnancy can harm a mother's kidneys and other organs, and can lead to premature delivery and low birth weight babies. Some types of birth control can raise a woman's risk for HBP. Women with HBP who want to become pregnant should work with their health care team to lower their blood pressure before becoming pregnant.

5. African Americans face an increased risk of HBP.

African American men and women have higher rates of high blood pressure than any other racial or ethnic group. They are also more likely to be hospitalized for high blood pressure. Experts think these health disparities are tied to higher rates of obesity and diabetes.

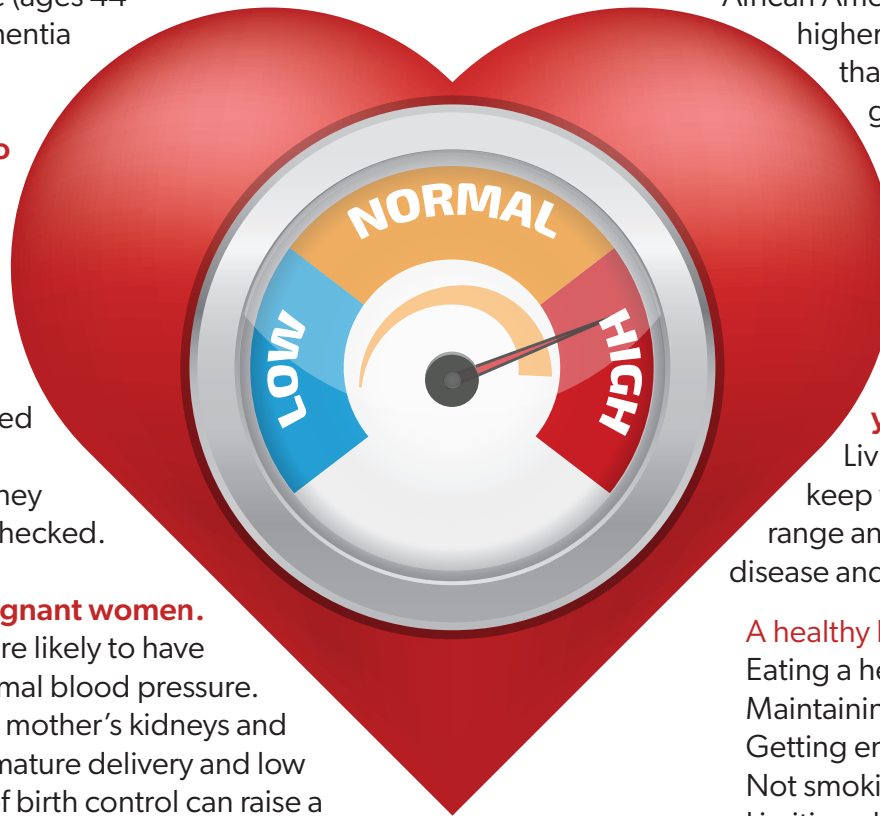

What can you do to lower your risk?

Living a healthy lifestyle helps keep your blood pressure in a healthy range and lower your risk for heart disease and stroke.

A healthy lifestyle includes:

- Eating a healthy diet
- Maintaining a healthy weight
- Getting enough physical activity
- Not smoking
- Limiting alcohol use

Changes like reducing sodium, being more active, and reducing stress, can help lower blood pressure.

Ask your health care team how often you should check your blood pressure. You can get your blood pressure checked at a doctor's office or pharmacy, and you can check it at home if you have a home blood pressure monitor.

March 30 is Doctors' Day.

We're collecting words of thanks from our providers' patients during the month of March.

Your encouragement means so much.

More fiber. Add vegetables, beans, nuts, seeds and whole grains. Fiber may help to lower cholesterol, improve blood pressure, stabilize blood sugar and help you stay full longer.

More fruits and vegetables. Fill half your plate with non-starchy vegetables such as lettuce, tomato, zucchini, asparagus or other leafy greens.

Less added sugars. Add fruit to your oatmeal or yogurt. Eat fewer foods and drinks that are high in added sugars. Look for canned fruits packed in their own juice instead of heavy syrup. Switch to fruit-flavored seltzer water or add fruit to your glass of tap water.

Less saturated fat. Eat lean meats, skinless poultry and fish when possible. Bake, broil, roast, grill, boil or steam instead of frying. Replace sources of saturated fat with foods that provide healthy fats such as avocados, olive and canola oil, nuts and seeds.

Get moving. Consult with your health care provider to increase physical activity. Incorporate aerobic activity by walking, bicycling, dancing or doing another type of physical activity you enjoy.

10 Early Signs of Parkinson's Disease

Learn more at www.parkinson.org

It can be hard to tell if you or a loved one has Parkinson's disease (PD). No single one of these signs means that you should worry, but if you have more than one sign you should consider making an appointment to talk to your doctor.

Tremors in your finger, thumb, hand or chin. What is normal? Shaking after lots of exercise, or if you're stressed or injured. Shaking can also be caused by medication.

Small and cramped handwriting. What is normal? Writing can change as you get older, if you have stiff hands or fingers or poor vision.

Loss of smell. What is normal? Sense of smell can be changed by a cold, flu or a stuffy nose, but it should come back when you are better.

Trouble sleeping. What is normal? Having a night when you 'toss and turn' instead of sleeping. Quick jerks of the body when initiation sleep or when in lighter sleep are common and often normal.

Trouble moving or walking. What is normal? If you have injured your arm or shoulder, you may not be able to use it as well until it is healed, or another illness like arthritis might cause the same symptom.

Constipation. What is normal? Lack of water or fiber in your diet can cause problems in the bathroom. Also, some medicines, especially those used for pain, cause constipation.

A soft or low voice. What is normal? A chest cold or other virus can cause your voice to sound different, but you should go back to sounding the same when you get over your cough or cold.

Masked face (having a constant serious, depressed or mad look). What is normal? Some medicines can cause you to have the same type of serious or staring look, but you would go back to the way you were after you stopped the medication.

Dizziness or fainting. What is normal? Everyone has had a time when they stood up and felt dizzy, but if it happens on a regular basis you should see your doctor.

Stooping or hunching over. What is normal? If you have pain from an injury or if you are sick, it might cause you to stand crookedly. Also, a problem with your bones can make you hunch over.

What can you do if you have PD?

Work with your doctor to create a plan to stay healthy. This might include the following:

- A referral to a neurologist, a doctor who specializes in the brain
- Care from an occupational therapist, physical therapist or speech therapist
- Meeting with a medical social worker to talk about how Parkinson's will affect your life
- Start a regular exercise program to delay further symptoms.
- Talk with family and friends who can provide you with the support you need.
